Jeff

Miller's crusade against Christian Nationalism takes him so far into leftist delusion that he ends up arguing in favor of Drag Queen Story Hour. Unbelievable—the man is so desperate to tear down Christian political influence that he finds himself making an apologetic for men in dresses having play dates with little children in public libraries.

As Big Tech continues to censor conservative publications like ours, we must increasingly rely on supporters to continue our work. Much of our work, particularly as it revolves around a biblical worldview on social and cultural issues, isn't even allowed to be shared on social media anymore. This reduces our traffic and causes us to move more of our work exclusively to Substack. Members who subscribe to us on Substack will gain exclusive access to all of our work, free of ads and other annoying pop-ups, as well as member-only access to our podcast archive and controversial moderated content.
