MUTH'S TRUTHS

What Candidates Should Learn from WWE and WrestleMania

(Chuck Muth) – Yesterday I attended a meeting with Education Secretary Linda McMahon, who's in town for WrestleMania. I noted that I was probably the only person in the room who's attended two WrestleManias.

Gia and I went to our first WrestleMania in 1991 at the Los Angeles Coliseum, where the Undertaker made his WrestleMania debut.

The second was WrestleMania XXVI in Phoenix in 2010. By that time we had three kids - who enjoyed every minute of the extravaganza.

So while everyone else was asking Secretary McMahon about closing down the Department of Education – which she is committed to doing – I had something else on my mind.

Aside from the obvious entertainment value of professional wrestling, the WWE is a world-class marketing operation. So I asked Mrs. McMahon what she thought was the most valuable WWE marketing tool that political campaigns could benefit from.

One word. . .
