MUTH'S TRUTHS

If Republicans Cave on School Choice, They'll Star in Hollywood's Biggest Flop Yet

Word on the street is that the special session of the Nevada Legislature will start tomorrow – and the Hollywood film studio proposal will be on the agenda.

During the 2025 regular session, the original proposal (AB238) got seven Republican votes in the Assembly: Lisa Cole, Rich DeLong, Bert Gurr, Heidi Kasama, Greg Koenig, P.K. O'Neill, and Toby Yurek.

On the other side of the aisle, there were 13 Democrats who voted against it: Natha Anderson, Shea Backus, Venicia Considine, Cecelia Gonzalez, Heather Goulding, Selena La Rue Hatch, Cinthia Moore, Hanadi Nadeem, David Orentlicher, Erica Roth, Selena Torres-Fossett, and Howard Watts.

The seven Republicans should unite in conditioning another “yes” vote this time on whether or not the Democrats agree to Assemblyman P.K. O'Neill's very reasonable and minimal proposal to restore Opportunity Scholarships to its previous level – with specific language barring Democrats from undoing it again in a future session.

If so, that would mean the Democrats would have to flip seven of their “no” votes from the regular session bill in order for the new one – whatever's in it – to pass.

Which, of course, might be doable since Democrats are MUCH better at enforcing party discipline and “bribing” their members with leadership positions and cushy committee assignments than Republicans.

But if that's the case, so be it.
