

ANARY MISSION

The rhetoric and actions taken by the eight people indicted in the University of Michigan conspiracy case was not just extreme. It was violent, threatening, and openly conspiratorial. According to the indictment, one defendant said: “I’m gonna be the dirtiest fking doctor ever.” Another said: “get into that house then burn it down.”

See carousel on Instagram

Read the thread on X

Meet Austin Franco. He's a rising junior at Cornell's School of Industrial and Labor Relations who reportedly turned down an internship interview with a real estate startup because he was "Not interested in working for a jew."

Read the thread on X

See carousel on Instagram

This is what contempt for America sounds like. Zul Mohamed, a Carrollton, Texas mayoral candidate, said veterans made “no sacrifice,” then added: “I do not support the U.S. military. No, I do not support the United States. I look down on both entities.” Then he closed with this: “The only vets I support are the ones who take care of cats and dogs.”

Watch on Instagram

Watch on X